

Man kills friend over N300 electricity bill in Warri

Ebenezer Adurokiya | Warri

A young man identified as Godstime Oke has reportedly killed his friend and roommate, one Gaga Allia over N300 electricity bill in Okumagba Layout, Warri, Delta State.

It was gathered that at about 10:00pm after the 2022 FIFA World Cup match on Wednesday, December 14, Godstime Oke and Gaga Allia got into a fight which led to Godstime stabbing Gaga on the neck with a broken bottle.

After the act, Godstime had reportedly fled to Ugborikoko area near Warri but was caught and handed over to the Nigerian Police Force 'B' Division on Thursday.

Godstime Oke explained in a video that he was the one collecting money from other co tenants in their compound to address the issue of electricity.

He said the fight broke out when Gaga refused to refund the sum of N300 which a tenant paid on his behalf when he was not around.

He said during the fight that ensued between the two of them, one of his friends Tega, who was around broke a bottle and gave him with which he used to stab to death Gaga.

At the time of filing this report, efforts were still being made to apprehend Tega, the alleged accomplice.

When contacted, the spokesperson for the Delta State Police Command, DSP Bright Edafe, confirmed the incident.
