

24-year-old housewife kills son's 4-day-old mate in Bauchi

by Ishola Michael August 22, 2023 in Metro Reading Time: 2 mins read

AA

A 24-year-old housewife in Ningi LGA of Bauchi State, Furera Abubakar, has allegedly killed her mate's four-day-old son. Consequently, Operatives attached to the State Police Command have arrested the said Furera Abubakar, a resident of Bantu village, Ningi Local Government area of Bauchi State, for the offence of culpable homicide. A Police Crime bulletin by the Command PPRO, SP Ahmed Wakili, contained that the incident was reported to the Ningi Divisional Police headquarters on the 19th of August, 2023. It was reported that the four-day-old baby was born on the 15th of August, 2023, and was murdered by the suspect, Furera Abubakar, on the 19th of August, 2023, before the naming ceremony. According to the PPRO, preliminary investigation revealed that the suspect is a co-wife to the nursing mother (victim's mother). He wrote that the suspect entered the co-wife's room with insecticide liquid (Gramalin) and applied it to the unhealed baby's umbilical cord. The liquid, suspected to be corrosively affected, led to the deterioration of the baby's health and eventually to his death. The PPRO added that the investigation is discreetly ongoing, after which the suspect will be profiled and charged in court accordingly.

READ ALSO FROM NIGERIAN TRIBUNE

- Before Appeal Court determines Atiku, Obi, Tinubu's fate
- Niger coup: Tinubu in meeting with Touray, Abubakar, Ribadu
- Oyo: Gov Makinde approves August 20 as Isese day
- Press Time Podcast: Soft Skills, Opportunities and things in-between
- Tinubu to swear in new ministers Monday

- Oyo state govt releases Omituntun bus intracity, intercity routes, fares

Related Posts

Bauchi Assembly adopts motion directing govt to address flood, vandalism

Bogoro records 7 kidnap cases in 2 months — Bauchi council boss

Bauchi pensioners will get outstanding pension, gratuities — Gov Bala

A 24-year-old housewife in Ningi LGA of Bauchi State, Furera Abubakar, has allegedly killed her mate's four-day-old son. Consequently, Operatives attached to the State Police Command have arrested the said Furera Abubakar, a resident of Bantu village, Ningi Local Government area of Bauchi State, for the offence of culpable homicide. A Police Crime bulletin by the Command PPRO, SP Ahmed Wakili, contained that the incident was reported to the Ningi Divisional Police headquarters on the 19th of August, 2023. It was reported that the four-day-old baby was born on the 15th of August, 2023, and was murdered by the suspect, Furera Abubakar, on the 19th of August, 2023, before the naming ceremony. According to the PPRO, preliminary investigation revealed that the suspect is a co-wife to the nursing mother (victim's mother). He wrote that the suspect entered the co-wife's room with insecticide liquid (Gramalin) and applied it to the unhealed baby's umbilical cord. The liquid, suspected to be corrosively affected, led to the deterioration of the baby's health and eventually to his death. The PPRO added that the investigation is discreetly ongoing, after which the suspect will be profiled and charged in court accordingly.