

② Two in police net for beating man to death over allegation of theft in Lagos

OPERATIVES of the Lagos State police command have arrested two men for allegedly beating a man to death over allegation of car doors theft.

According to the News Agency of Nigeria (NAN), this was confirmed by the state Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Benjamin Hundeyin, on Sunday.

Hundeyin said the arrest was made after the widow reported the case at Iponri police division.

He said the woman reported on Thursday that while she was at home, she received a call that some people were beating her husband.

"In her report, she said they were beating her husband because he allegedly stole two doors of a car.

"She reported that on getting to the scene, she saw her husband in a pool of his blood and the assailants took him away in a tricycle.

"She further said that she heard later that her husband died on their way to the hospital and his corpse was abandoned in the tricycle," Hundeyin said.

He added that the divisional police officer (DPO) at Iponri mobilised detectives arrested the two suspects and recovered the body of the victim.

Those arrested were a 33-year-old man and a 34-year-old man.
