

Three killed by suspected cultists in Bayelsa

CULTISTS suspected to be members of Greenlanders, on Wednesday night, invaded Igbogene community, a suburb of Yenagoa, the Bayelsa State capital, and killing three persons.

The cultists, numbering about 10 and allegedly armed with dangerous weapons, were said to have invaded the community at about 8:00p.m., causing residents to scamper for safety.

A resident who preferred anonymity, told the News Agency of Nigeria (NAN) on Thursday, that the first person shot dead was the son of a former head of the Community Vigilante Group.

According to the source, the victim was shot close to his house, while the second person, who was not a cultist, was shot when he could not disclose the whereabouts of his elder brother.

Spokesman for the Bayelsa State police command, DSP Musa Mohammed, who also confirmed the incident, said those shot included Donaldson Mison (28), Addy Mulan (27) and Greenboy Dudella (29).
