National Youth Corps members serving in Borno State have been thrown into mourning following the gruesome killing of their colleague, Miss Grace Adie Ushang by unknown persons.

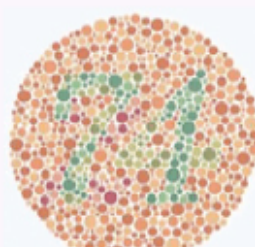

Adie was allegedly raped to death last weekend and her body dumped beside a river at the Customs Area, Maiduguri.

The late Batch B 2009 corps member reportedly left her room at the Corpers' Lodge of the El-Kanemi College of Business Administration (ECOBA), Customs area where she was serving around 6.30 p.m in search of food. Sadly, the sudden windstorm, which made many people in Maiduguri scurry home last Saturday evening allegedly provided a cover for Grace's assailants as she was allegedly assaulted and murdered in cold blood.

The principal of El-Kanemi College, the deceased, employer, Mr Alfred Adikwe confirmed the alleged rape and death of the corper in an interview with Daily Sun. He added that the doctor's first post mortem report revealed that she was assaulted and raped to death.

“The doctor who examined her body confirmed she was assaulted and raped by unknown persons. In fact, there was a cut on her fore head and blood was discovered on her nose and mouth as at the time she was picked up at the place where her body was discovered,” he disclosed.

Explaining further, he said “Grace told her colleagues at the college quarters that she was going out to buy food around 6.30 p.m on Saturday but did not return on time and that made her colleagues to get worried. Few hours later, they were informed that a lady's body was lying near a river at the customs area. It was discovered that the trouser she wore when she went out was no longer with her. She was almost naked.”

The doctor also said that the deceased's body was discovered by some people few hours after she left the lodge in search of food. Her colleagues who spoke to Daily Sun on condition of anonymity claimed she must have struggled to free herself from her assailants.

Grace, 25 a graduate of Education Administration from the University of Calabar was posted to Borno in July in the wake of the Boko Haram crisis. She was later posted to the Business Administration College on August 4.

When contacted, the Borno State NYSC coordinator, Mr Moshood Adebayo declined comment on the matter, adding that only the national directorate of the scheme has the authority to comment on such. Daily Sun gathered that the NYSC Director General, Brig Gen Tsiga was expected to visit the state in respect of the matter.

The Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Isah Azare, an Assistant Superintendent of Police, could not confirm the report in a telephone conversation as his line suddenly went off while subsequent efforts to get him proved abortive.

What kind of ridiculous police do they have in Nigeria. Haven,t you fools ever heared of forensic science and the round up of probable suspectss within the area specified in you report. How about immediate coverage of surrounding area and questioning the residents on the same night in question. Nigerian police needs serious rehauling. Disgracefull.

I bleed in my heart as i write.What an unfortunte situation. Why should incident like this keep happening in Nigeria? Can anyone tell me one importance of the youths service scheme.What a colossal lost to the family. Please, please, please to the Nigerian government, could you put a stop to this worthless scheme. Corpers die on a yearly basis in the course of their services to their fatherland and nothing is done about these. What a mess.Something must be done urgently about this.My heart goes to the bereaved family. I pray GOD's fortitude upon the family to bear this giangantic lost.
