ONE person was killed on Tuesday along the Gbagada Expressway, Lagos, when a tanker fully loaded with fuel, fell on a Passat car.

Apart from the driver of the car, two other occupants were seriously injured.

Similarly, a container, which fell off a truck onto an over head bridge on the Western Avenue, also in Lagos, caused an unprecedented traffic jam on both sides of the road, stretching towards the Lagos Island.

The Gbagada accident, occurred at a bad portion of the road, almost opposite the United Parcel Service office.

According to an eyewitness account, the driver of the tanker coming from the Oshodi end, was apparently on high speed and lost control when he approached the sloppy portion of the road.
