

Man stabs friend to death, flees

Kunle Adeyemi

A man, whose name was simply given as Chibuike, is being hunted by the police for allegedly stabbing one of his friends, Chukwuebuba, to death.

Chibuike reportedly fled immediately he saw that the man he stabbed with a piece of broken bottle was lying lifelessly on the ground.

The incident, which happened at about 6.10pm on Wednesday, at Alhaji Okin Street, Mosafejo, Ojo,

Lagos, was said to have sent jitters down the spine of many residents in the area.

Our correspondent learnt that the two men had a disagreement at House 37, Alhaji Okin Street, and their inability to resolve the matter led to a full-scale fight.

Some neighbours were said to have appealed to the suspect not to stab his friend but he ignored them and stabbed Chukwuebuba several times.

The victim reportedly fell and lost consciousness after crying for help for a few minutes and none seemed to be coming.

He allegedly died when a group of friends decided to rush him to a hospital. Just then, the case was reported at the State Criminal Investigation Department, Panti, Yaba.

Spokesman for the Lagos State Police Command, Mr. Frank Mba, a deputy superintendent of police, confirmed the incident to our correspondent on Thursday.
