

Man cuts off 17-year-old son's manhood

A herbalist, Mohammed Awotoye, who cut off the manhood of his 17-year-old son, Afeez Awotoye, in Ilawo village of Ejigbo Local Government Council, has been arrested by the police.

Our correspondent found in Osogbo on Thursday that Afeez died after losing much blood as a result of the machete cut injuries he sustained in the attack by his father.

A source said that Mohammed killed his son in the night.

It was gathered that the father brandished the manhood of his son, dancing round the town.

The Police Public Relations Officer, Osun Command, Mr. Clement Akinola, confirmed the incident.

He said that the motive behind the attack would be unravelled by police investigation.

He said, "The suspect's wife reported him after the incident. We have arrested him and he is behaving as if he is mad; we shall test his sanity. We want to ascertain whether the action was premeditated or not."
