Father of five dies after affair with lover

Jude Owuamanam and Francis Falola

Tragedy struck last Saturday at Mangu in Mangu Local Government Area of Plateau State when a father of five children died on top of his lover.

The lover, a mother of three, is also said to be recuperating at Mangu General Hospital after a night of marathon sex.

The woman (name withheld), had sneaked into the man's bar, which he also used as a guest house, after the man had asked his wife to go home and take care of the children.

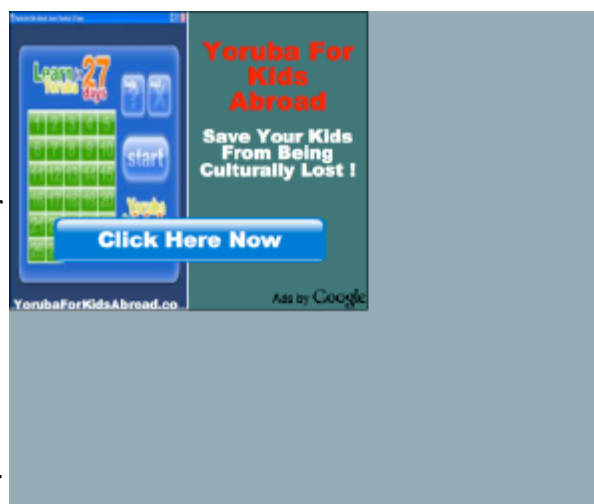

However, PUNCH METRO gathered that neighbours became curious when a generator inside the compound was still on when they woke up early in the morning.

It was further gathered that the lovers retired into a room in the bar and put on a generator, which worked till the following day.

PUNCH METRO learnt that the man might have been suffocated by the generator's fumes.

By the time the neighbours forced the doors open, the man laid unconscious while the woman was gasping for breath.

She was rushed to a nearby hospital where she was revived.

By mid-morning, curious neighbours were still trooping to the scene.

Police Public Relations Officer in the state command, Mr. Mohammed Lerama, an Assistant Superintendent of Police, said that he was yet to be briefed about the incident.

Meanwhile, one person was on Tuesday killed and several others injured in a clash between some youths and the police in Agaie, Agaie Local Government Area of Niger State.

The police outpost in the town was also burnt and weapons allegedly stolen by the youths.

One of our correspondents gathered that the fracas was the aftermath of the arrest by the police of a suspected Nigerian Telecommunications Limited cable vandal.

The suspected vandal, who was picked up in Minna, during an interrogation mentioned his accomplices. Consequently, the police swooped on Agaie town where members of his gang were apprehended and detained at the police out-post pending the time they would be transferred to Minna.

It was gathered that some youths in the town protested the arrest and detention of the suspect and invaded the outpost.

Efforts to make the youths vacate the police station peacefully, it was learnt, were abortive. It was gathered that one of the policemen shot into the air to disperse the youths, but a stray bullet hit one of the youths, who died instantly.

Following the death of the youth, the mob launched further attack on the police and set the police outpost ablaze.

Police Public Relations Officer for the command, ASP Richard Oguche, confirmed the incident, but doubted if police weapons were stolen from the station.
