Police, vigilance group arrest bandits waiting to rob lottery winners

Ademola Oni

The collaboration between the Nigeria Police Force and a vigilance group in Sagamu, Ogun State, seems to be yielding fruits as this has led to the arrest of some hoodlums in the town, who had planned to ambush lottery winners and rob them of their benefits.

Mr. Musa Daura, the Commissioner of Police in the state command, said during the parade of two of the hoodlums at the command's headquarters in Abeokuta on Thursday that the police were informed of the suspicious movement of Mutiu Odunuga and Adeniyi Odunaike.

"They were patrolling the premises of Happiness Lotto and Lottery at Surulere Street, Sagamu, where some beneficiaries of Lotto dividends were being paid," said the police boss. The report was said to have been brought to the knowledge of the police by the head of the vigilance group in Oja-Oba, Central Sagamu, Mr. Femi Kafaru.

"One of the suspects was mounting a bag reasonably suspected to contain arms. The two were suspected to be planning an attack on the beneficiaries or to trace the beneficiaries from the point to a convenient place before they dispossess them of their valuables."

Daura explained that the police detectives swooped on the hoodlums and ~~arrested them with some weapons,~~ including a locally-made pistol.

Meanwhile, the men of the command killed two of a four-man armed robbery gang in Ikenne on Tuesday, while one of the gang members, one John David, was arrested. The fourth member escaped with bullet wounds.

The police commissioner said the bandits, who were operating in a black Toyota Corolla, with number plate ER 339 LSR (Lagos) engaged the police in a gun battle at Cemetery Road, Ikenne, around 10 am.

"The action of the Ikenne Police was as a result of intelligence report gathered that robbers struck at Maroko, Lekki area, Victoria Island, Lagos on January 17, 2011, where the aforementioned car was snatched and the occupants robbed. After the gun duel, the said car and some weapons were recovered from them," said Daura.

He added that the suspects were helping the state Criminal Investigation Department, Elewera, Abeokuta, to gather useful information on the case.

One of the items recovered from them was a dummy pistol.
