

Robbers kill cattle rearer, steal victim's cows

TWO suspects are currently in the custody of the Oyo State Police Command for allegedly killing a cattle-rearer simply identified as Sidi in Saki.

They were said to have made away with about 26 cows belonging to the victim after killing him in his residence. The spokesman for the state police command, Mr. Olatunji Ajimuda, confirmed this to our correspondent on Wednesday.

Ajimuda said that upon the receipt of information on the incident, policemen attached to Saki Divisional Headquarters swung into action and combed the bush in the surrounding the victim's residence.

He said the search later yielded fruit as the two suspects were arrested in their hideout with the stolen cows. Ajimuda said the recovered cows were in police custody while the suspects were currently being interrogated by the State Anti-Robbery Squad.
