Abductors kill victim

SUSPECTED kidnappers in Enugu State on Sunday night killed their victim while waiting for her (victim's) parents to show up with the ransom, the Anti-kidnap squad, also known as 'Fire for Fire', said on Monday.

According to a leader of the squad, ongoing investigation has revealed that the victim may have been killed after she recognised one of the suspected kidnappers.

Craving anonymity, he also said the identity of the victim would not be made public, for now, so as not to hamper police investigation.

He said, "By the time the girl's parents got to the scene where the ransom was to be paid, they could not find anyone. Having contacted us, we decided to look around and found the girl's body in a nearby bush at Independence Layout."
