Man burnt

AN unknown man was on Sunday morning burnt to death in Etegwe area of Yenagoa, the capital of Bayelsa State.

Our correspondent learnt that his assailants hung a used tyre around his neck before setting him ablaze at about 6am.

Eyewitnesses said the man shouted for help when his assailants wanted to burn him but that no help came his way.

“Some people saw the victim shouting for help with tyres on him at about 6.am in the morning on Sunday, but nobody could venture to rescue him at that time and his assailants went ahead to burn him”, a man who identified himself as Tuesday said.
