Two found dead in Ilorin bush, one beheaded

June 15, 2012 by Success Nwogu, Ilorin 21 Comments

Lifeless bodies of two men were discovered on Thursday at Sango area of Ilorin, Kwara State.

According to the state Police Public Relations Officer, Mr. Fabode Olufemi, two rivalry cult groups, allegedly from Kwara State Polytechnic, clashed on Wednesday night.

Olufemi said when the police were informed about the clash, they intervened.

He stated that surprisingly two dead men were discovered in a nearby bush.

According to him, one of them was beheaded.

He stated that the corpses had been deposited at a mortuary, adding that investigations into the matter had begun.

But the Public Relations Officer of Kwara State Polytechnic, Yunus Abdulkadir, in a telephone interview with our correspondent on Thursday said students of the institution were not involved in the death of the two men.

He added that the corpses were not discovered near the institution.

We have no future in this country. Look at what our government have turned our youths into. They gave them guns during the elections to attack their opponents, but they are killing themselves.

Then who was, then ? Dead persons cannot killed themselves and even beheaded one of them, somebody did the beheading, so police as law enforcement agents must find out for us who did the killings and especially the beheading.

THANK YOU

@effizzy why do u people always put blame on yoruba, if you heard of any raping, armed robbery ritual killing it is the yorubas why not mention igbo who can kill their mother because of money, they were not always contented with what God give them. Igbo are too greedy, thief and lazy they don't want to work but they be a big man

Thirst for power, too much emphasis on certificate, desperation for certificate, poor security system, access to arm, very low moral, bad governance, bad parentage, lack of respect for human life, high respect for wealth, (no matter the source) ,and satanic life style, bane of the society. May God protect this nation.AMEN.
