Joint security patrol team in Oyo State, Operation Burst, was on Thursday thrown into mourning following the death of a female Army officer and three other personnel of the outfit in an auto crash in Ibadan.

Contrary to the report that the patrol team was on the trail of some hoodlums, it was learnt that the crash happened as the security patrol team attempted to beat the traffic gridlock along Mokola-Sango-UI-Ojoo Expressway.

An eyewitness, Sunday Odetara, said, “This morning there was a light traffic due to the weekly environmental sanitation exercise. At a sharp bend on the way to Sango from UI the van hit the electric pole in the median and skidded to the other side of the expressway.”

In the process, he said, the patrol van driver, having lost control, rammed into a commercial vehicle from the opposite direction (Sango end of the road).

Four members of the security outfit reportedly died on the spot while others sustained varying degrees of injuries.

Police Public Relations Officer in the state, Mrs. Olabisi Ilobanafor, said, “The accident occurred at about 9am. It involved an operation burst vehicle, a private vehicle and a motorcycle.

“One Police Inspector, Adebola Apata; a Lance Corporal, Bola (surname not given), a female police and a private soldier called Oneh died.

“Police corporals Bello Kayode and George Adeyemo and Sgt. Abdullahi Mannir (soldier) as well as the driver of the private vehicle and the cyclist were injured.”

It was learnt that the victims were rushed to the University College Hospital for treatment.

Use people, I don't pity them as they die I only pity the innocent. Where were they rushing too? They will never respond when their help is highly needed during an emergency. SMH for Nigeria! I think this will serve as a warning to all uniform men and women.

Always take things easy especially when you are not on assignment.

My thoughts go out to their families and loved ones.

Our law enforcement agencies should be law compliment agencies but they break law more than criminals.

This incident should be properly investigated for future reason.

It's against our tradition to talk bad about dead.

May God forgive them all and I wish injured quick recovery.

Those guys burst are really mad people, they drive round the city like mad men without any emergency, they almost hit my car same manner 2 days ago along Beere Road and they were still pointing gun @ me and beating my car, imagine, it is innocent civilians I pity so much and feel sorry for and instead of the Governor shaking and shedding tears he should just call them to order or disban them because they are not even curbing crime except humiliating the young men and women in the city while they can not do anything about rubbers that snatch cars every, infact as you drive in the clty yuo watch ur back, left and right and you make sure robbers are not following you

If only this guys obey road traffic laws, those that died would have been alive today... That is the repercussion of all the intimidations other road users are made to face any time they surface in any area... High Speed without regard for other road users. They even expect you to climb the vehicle in your front in the absence of where you can park for them to get pass you... Those alive amongs them should learn from this...

May their souls rent in peace. I suppose it is time for the so called military and paramilitary personnels in Nigeria obey simple traffic laws...This is a usual occurence everywhere in the country but nobody seems to care. Even if there was heavy traffic, must they take the law into their hand and kill each other? Our Road safety must visit police, military and paramilitary barracks to educate them...these are bunch of illeterates.

Nigerian police are the worst traffic offenders. They drive like drivers from hell, terrorizing law abiding citizens on our roads. Their excesses should be checked. They shld not be allowed to continue endangering lives of Nigerians on the roads. The IG shld look into this.

May d souls of d departed ones rest in peace, & may d injured ones recover speedily. To say d fact dis operation burst drivers are very very reckless. The day they overtook me at lwo road at a very hi speed, I wondered wat kind of security outfit is this, & dat was nt d 1st time I'm seeing them like dat. They throw caution in d wind bcos they are uniformed men. Are they not suppose to respect d laws as well, especially traffic laws? May God's grace cover them as they carry out their assignment. Amen!
