Prostitutes flee as fun seeker dies in brothel

August 3, 2012 by Simon Utebor

Until last Tuesday, T & K International Hotel, Iyana Ipaja, Lagos State, was a place where fun seekers visit to drink and satisfy their sexual desires.

But the death of a customer, popularly known as Jereke, who passed the night at the brothel on the fateful day has changed the fortune of the place.

The prostitutes and customers have deserted the place and the brothel has been shut by the police.

As the news of the sad incident filtered in the neighbourhood, scores of people have been converging on the brothel to discuss the issue.

PUNCH Metro gathered that Jereke was a commercial bus driver, plying Iyana Ipaja – Igando Road and a regular caller at the brothel.

It was gathered that on the fateful day, the driver, after the day's work had gone to the brothel to unwind.

It was further learnt that Jereke having had some booze, reportedly slept in the brothel.

Although it could not be ascertained if he slept with any of the prostitutes that night, it was learnt that he died in the brothel.

A resident, who craved anonymity for fear that he might be identified, said neighbours were awoken by a noise from the place in the early hours of Tuesday.

He said, “When we asked what the noise was all about, we were told that a customer died in the brothel.

“When we went in, we saw the deceased in a pool of blood. Blood gushed out of his mouth. It looked as if he was poisoned.”

He said the deceased was popular in the area because he was a frequent visitor to the brothel.

“That Tuesday morning, some people came to carry his corpse out of the hotel. His body was covered with blood. I do not know where they took him to,” he added.

A trader on the street, who also declined to give his name, said he might have been poisoned by one of the prostitutes, who probably capitalised on his state of stupour.

“The man went in there after working for the day. Mark you, the man was a driver. He must have come into the brothel with all the money he made for the day. Those prostitutes cannot be trusted; he could have been poisoned to collect the money on him,” he said.

But another resident, who gave her name simply as Uchenna, said the victim had a room in the hotel and that he died inside the room.

“Many tongues have been wagging that he died during sex with a prostitute but that is not true.

“On the fateful day, up till 8am, his room was still locked.

They knocked at his door, no response before the door was forced open. When the door was opened, it was noticed that he had died.

“The man lived in Iyana Oba. It is when he could not go home that he would sleep in the brothel.”

When our correspondent passed through the place on Thursday, it was noticed that the brothel had been deserted and under lock and key.

The Divisional Police Officer, Gowon Estate Police Station, Mr. Agba Nchor, was repeatedly called on the phone but he did not pick. He also did not reply to the text message sent to his phone.

Also, the spokesperson for the Police Command in the state, Ngozi Braide, did not answer her call. Two text messages sent to her phone were not responded to as of press time.

i am convinced that u a not sound upstairs. you have nothing in stock than to criticize yoruba. i'm very sure that idiots like you can not manage your immediate family effectively talkless of your devilish village in the east. stupid man.

Link

■ dave August 3, 2012 at 10:17 am

how are you sure Ododo is not yoruba. Besides you just exhibited the typical yoruba attitude by reigning insults on him. What he said is something that will happen in any part of Nigeria.

Link

■ Ami August 3, 2012 at 12:38 pm

You are the dumbest fool on earth to reply like that, ododo might be a yoruba or from anywhere else. What has east got to do with the issue. Danmm you are very daft.

Link

■ Okin August 3, 2012 at 1:26 pm

Like the meaning of his name "Ododo" the truth. He sounds like a Yoruba man. I hope that you know that our people always say "Ododo oro a maa ko" meaning truth is always bitter. One driver in my office slumped, had stroke and died shortly afterwards. His relations said that he was killed. But that day when he slumped in the office and we rushed him to an hospital, the Doctor took his BP and said that it was at the extreme. He wanted to know from us if he was a BP patient, we answered that we do not know. He said before anything that BP must be stabilised before anything can be done on his stroke. He did that and asked us to take him to the National Hospital, which we did immediately. When his wife was called she confirmed that he was diagnosed to be hypertensive three years earlier but he refused to take any drug. After his burial, we discovered from his wife and friends that he smokes, drinks and womanizes when alive.

Let us shew other peoples comments well before we start pouring abuses. Let every one that loves life try to know his/her BP status, it is more deadly than AIDS, I would have died 14 years ago if not that I was well informed about this issue. God bless you all and have a nice weekend.

Satan is using prostitutes to punish men who do not keep to God's commandment- Do not commit adultery or fornication. Some get sickness including HIV aids while some get financial breakdown and marital failure. Some even get painful and instant but avoidable death. Let the living learn a lesson from this incidence.

Link

o chamberlain A charlie August 3, 2012 at 7:47 pm

It is appointed unto man once to die after that judgement(Heb. 9:27) please note that the death we are referring to here, is the second death Rev.2:11 which death or judgement (better referred) our brother in that brothel may not pass through. What this mean is that when alive try and outlive your wrongs with much rights and also avoid circumstances that could earn you untimely death to face the real judgement that could lead you to complete extinction or never to return again.

Link

• ak August 3, 2012 at 10:28 am

Link

• Samuel Adefisoye August 3, 2012 at 10:36 am

Proverbs 5:15 downwards says “drink water out of your own cistern.... Let her breast satisfy you always, and be thou ravished in her love” i.e. your own legitimate and legally married wife. Anything short of this will definitely attract catastrophe, injury and death. All irresponsible men fleting all about should learn a lesson from this. Prostitutes and their brothels are all death traps from which no man that goes in will ever come out uninjured. If you are not injured physically, your destiny and soul have received a terrible spiritual injury that will manifest in the long run.

I read with keen interest comments posted by readers on this page. I dnt need to knw u before deciphering the kind of temperament a reader have. Even from your write ups i could tell u ur temperament.

What on earth could make a reader attack the personality of a reader just because same has posted something tribalistic, sectional and the rest. sincerely it is the highest level of illiteracy.

How i wish there is a way caustic comments can be filtered and block from this page.

NEPAL: A 40-year-old woman was declared a witch and set on fire by family members in Kathmandu on Saturday.

The horrific incident occurred when Shegani Mahato was attacked after a priest declared her a witch and accused her of making one of her relatives ill, a police official told CNN.

The mother of a nine-year-old girl was attacked in her village early in the morning. She was beaten up with sticks and rocks and then her relatives poured kerosene on her and burnt her alive. The entire incident was witnessed by her helpless daughter.

Police officials have arrested 10 people in association with the crime and they have all pleaded guilty. An 8-year-old boy is also among those 10 people who were involved in killing the woman.

i pray that one day, Nigerians wl stop spiritualising everything...ever heard of mallory-weiss syndrome???, dis man is an average lagos driver, who drinks everyday. overtime his oesophageal veins will continue to be engorged due to the effect of the alcohol on his liver. on dis fateful day, he might have taken too much of the alcohol causing d veins to rupture and thus he continues to bleed into his stomach, at some point he bleeds too much and probably faints. if he remains unconscious, he might aspirate the blood from his stomach due to back flow of the stomach content...and den death ensues. this is a fairly common event but once nigerians see blood, particularly coming out of the mouth, den its a spiritual thing....nevermind, dis is just one explanation of the many things that cld have gone wrong, but its so common, and requires being considered.

Criticism must surely follow the death of a man in a brothel. But the point is it is only when someone dies like this that we automatically know where they are going. @Abimbola u have just exhibited the real character of an OFEMMANU by raining insult on ododo for saying the truth. Everyone knows that the yorubas are the most superstitious tribe in nigeria who attribute even the commonest natural phenomenon to witchcraft.
