Mystery Death Of Nigerian Woman

Published on March 11, 2013 by pmnews · 12 Comments

A housewife, Mrs. Onyinyechi Gift Ihaza, has been battered to death in Lagos, southwest Nigeria.

Circumstances surrounding the gruesome murder at her residence at 15, Adams street, Adua Ijaiye, Ojokoro Local Council Development Area, were still hazy at press time as her husband, Mr. Smart Ihaza, said he had no hand in her death.

According to the husband of the deceased, on 7 March, 2013 at about 12.56 p.m. he spoke with his wife on her phone, saying on getting home at about 5 p.m. he met the door locked as usual and he called his wife on phone which rang severally but she did not pick the call.

Thereafter, he said he went and checked on her at her friend's house and he was told by her friend that they both came back from church a while ago.

Narrating further, Ihaza said since he could not gain access into his apartment, he went and spent the night in a hotel. He said that the following day, he called neighbours and a welder to assist them cut the padlock of the entrance door and as soon as he entered inside, he saw his wife with a broken head on the floor with blood all over.

The matter was later reported at Ojokoro Police Station where the case is being investigated.

Police sources at Ojokoro Police Station are of the opinion that the husband is not telling the police the truth.

Some residents who spoke to P.M. NEWS described the deceased as an easy-going woman who minded her business and always assisted anyone in need.

"She was a nice woman who went about her business. She could go hungry just to make sure someone else ate. Whoever killed her will never know peace until he/she confesses," said Iya Bose, the deceased woman's neighbour. Another neighbour, Mary Oyebuchi, described her death as a great loss to the community, saying Gift had touched so many lives in positive ways.

"We have lost a great woman in this our community. She was someone who put smiles on the faces of everyone around. We will all miss her in this area," she said.

I 100% agree with the police. Why will a loving husband go to sleep in a hotel when part of his flesh is missing. He has given a wrong signal. Police please make him talk. The neighbour too should speak up, not the praises they are expressing. Tell us/police what you know of the couple life together.

This so called husband should be thoroughly drilled to get to the root of this gruesome murder. He have hand in the murder. How can you come back to your home by 5pm, and instead of forcing the door open, he went to sleep in a hotel. What manner of man is that. I want to put it to him that he called the wife by 12 : 56pm to ascertain her position in order to execute his evil plan. Let him name his accomplices.

The husband's story is not tidy. He has a lot of explanation to make. No sane person would just go and sleep in an hotel in this kind of circumstances. unh unh. I am not buying the husband's story.

Homicide,looking at the lady,we should know that the husband has been suspecting her of infidelity considering the fact that Church is mentioned and I am sure that it is Pentecostal church,these home breaking institutions of charlatans claiming to be clergy .

I'm sure the police know exactly what to do. They can get what the couple discussed at 12:56pm on phone from the service provider to be able to ascertain the man's tone of voice, the issue in the discussion etc. There should be no life-in-prison if the man is found to have a hand in this. He should be executed period! It is terrible. When the wife could not pick her phone, he quietly went and slept in a hotel meaning that the woman have been sleeping out of the house making him not to care to look for her at the time of rampant cases of kidnappings. Obviously, he killed the lady, went to sleep in a hotel and strategize, and cook up the story of bringing welders to help him unbolt the door. May her soul rest in peace.

It is evil to kill your fellow human, no matter the level of provocation.

The economy is bad and its a known fact that few women, if any, could endure a lean period with their men .

Forget "for better for worse" stuff, the reality is that when things go tough most women play rough with their husbands.

Mere looking at the woman, she cuts a picture of a society lady, hence the husband would have valued his own self preservation first and opted for momentary separation from the woman, having observed he could no longer cope with her deceitful way in the face of the his failure to meet her financial needs, rather than been driven by utter jealousy to perpetrate this act, which if found guilty may even end his own life.

I sound conclusive in my above comment, because his alibi is so porous and elementary that even a recruit in Intelligence/Detective unit of the force could detect that.

Women, stop cheating on your husbands.

Unfortunately in African we men appear to be inadvertently/erroneously approved by our polygamous culture to be involved in extra marital affair in the believe that men are free and may likely marry any of the ones he illicitly engages with. Which should not be so.

May the soul of the departed rest in peace.
