

Two missing kids found dead in Ketu, Lagos

MARCH 5, 2013 BY ENIOLA AKINKUOTU ■ 16 COMMENTS

Falilu and Toheeb

Ketu area of Lagos State was thrown into confusion after the shocking discovery of the corpses of two toddlers, Toheeb Adedokun and Tajudeen Falilu, who disappeared in January. PUNCH Metro had reported exclusively on January 30, 2013, that the missing children were suspected to have been kidnapped when all efforts to locate them proved abortive.

However, the corpses of the children were found in an abandoned vehicle, two houses away from their parents' home on Taike Street.

Reliable sources told our correspondent that the vehicle was a Honda Pilot Sports Utility Vehicle which the owner had used as collateral and thus abandoned it.

The source said after the children wandered off, they went into the vehicle and were trapped inside, causing them to suffocate.

He said, "We had searched all over for the children to no avail and assumed they were kidnapped. Even the police thought it was kidnap. Only if we had known that the children were trapped in a vehicle in the next compound, we would have saved them."

The spokesperson for the state police command, Ngozi Braide, confirmed the discovery to our correspondent on the telephone.

I am sorry, how on earth will you believe this story. They knew how 2 enter, they dont know hw 2 get out: nobody saw they when they were bagging at the door on their street and since that day nobody has opened the car. Pls take their body to forensic expert for autopsy and other test. To me this is fake story, police should probe more even the parents are not innocent here. it is a crime agains the state.

lies from the pit of hell,the children would have screamed and hit at the windows looking for help and someone would have noticed them. they should fish out the murderers

How true is it that the kids were actually trapped in the abandoned vehicles and suffocated to death?

I agree with you. This sounds suspicious. The children would have begun to cry and shout if they had been trapped, and their voices would have been heard even through closed windows.

Sounds suspicious, but probable. Have they conducted an autopsy on the deceased? Too sad to see innocent kids pass away. my prayers are with the kids' families.

What a sad story. The parents and all the people that did the search were so careless. How could they not search the vehicle. Somebody should be brought to book for the death of these innocent children.

Nd, I am picturing a case were this kids would have got into this car & slept off. Please an autopsy should be carry out wit immediate effect then we probe thoroughly cause I see no reason why such a car ll be parked without been locked. I sympathize with the family over the lost & God ll grant them the fortitude to bear the irreparable lost

Strange to believe. If actually the kids were missing there was no way an abandoned vehicle close to the house would not be searched. As a child most of us played inside an

Please, nobody should be blamed for this kind of occurrence. The Parents cannot be considered careless bcos they would never have imagined the children could be there. May God comfort the hearts of the bereaved and save our land from tragedies. It is so painful
