Saturday, dislodging Nigerian soldiers who were guarding the premises and surrounding areas.

The incident is coming hours after some members of the sect attacked the Training Liman Kara Police College, near Gwoza community, Borno State. More than 100 trainee police men were said to be still missing.

The insurgents were said to have arrived at the local government headquarters led by armoured vehicles they had earlier seized from Nigerian troops in the Gwoza attack earlier.

The Executive Director of Stefanos Foundation, Mr. Mark Lipdo, told our correspondent that among the facilities burnt down by the insurgents were the Government Secondary School, Madagali and the EYN Church Madagali.

He said the insurgents entered the town at about 7:25 am, bombarding the town repeatedly with shoulder-bearing rocket-propelled grenades and anti-aircraft mortar guns mounted on pickup vans.

The militants were also said to have promptly hoisted their flag and seized the administrative headquarters of Madagali Local Government Area.

Conquer Germany, Jonathan charges Falconets

OLALEKAN ADETAYO

PRESIDENT Goodluck Jonathan on Saturday asked members of the national under-20 women's football team, the Falconets to go all out for victory against their German counterparts in Sunday's final of the 2014 FIFA under-20 women's World Cup in Canada.

According to a statement by his Special Adviser on Media and Publicity, Dr. Reuben Abati, the President made the call when he spoke with the players on the phone from Germany where he is currently on a private visit.

He was said to have called them at their base in Montreal at about 15:15 hours Nigerian time and spoke with the captain of the team, Patience Okaeme, top scorer, Asisat Oshoala, Assistant Captain, Deborah Okoye, Courtney Dike, Uchechi Sunday, the delegation leader, Felix Anyansi Agwu; Head Coach, Peter Dedevo and other members of his team.

Abati said the President who commended the players for getting to the finals of the tournament once again, urged them to do their best to exceed their 2010 second place finish by overcoming the German team and bringing greater glory, pride and joy to soccer-loving Nigerians.

"You have done very well by getting to the final. I urge you to crown your efforts with ultimate victory tomorrow by playing with the greatest possible artistry, discipline, determination and patriotic zeal.

"I look forward to receiving you at the Presidential Villa with the winners' trophy and you can be assured of the immense gratitude of the Federal Government and the very appreciative people of Nigeria, Jonathan reportedly told the players and their handlers.

The President assured the Falconets that although, because of time difference, it will be very late in Germany by the time the final begins in Montreal, he would stand up to watch the game with his aides and join millions of other Nigerians at home and across the world cheering them to victory.
