

Suspected cultists kill final year IMSU student

August 4, 2016

Some suspected cult members have killed a final year student of the Imo State University, O'brien Ibekwe.

Ibekwe was said to be doing his final clearance when he was shot dead at the varsity gate around 2pm on Tuesday.

His corpse was reportedly dumped in a gutter.

It was learnt that the management of the school invited the police, who removed the corpse and deposited it in a mortuary.

Meanwhile, some friends of the victim, who flooded his Facebook wall with comments, described the death as painful.

One Chibueze, said, "Still can't believe that Ibekwe is gone. What a shameful and painful death."

Another, Doc, said, "IMSU is a calm school. I know because I graduated from there. But those Owerri/Orji/Nekede boys are brutal; they gang up and they never forgive. Their slang is, 'If u price, you must pay.' RIP, you are gone. But, at least, someone should learn something from this pain."

The Police Public Relations Officer, DSP Andrew Enwerem, confirmed the incident, saying that investigations were ongoing.

He said, "Yes, it is true that a student of IMSU was killed and we are already investigating the case. No suspect has been arrested." Copyright PUNCH.

All rights reserved. This material, and other digital content on this website, may not be reproduced, published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed in whole or in part without prior express written permission from PUNCH.

Contact: editor@punchng.com