The student, Yusuf Musa, was allegedly hit with a stick and stabbed to death last Wednesday night.

The deceased, who was supposed to take his final paper in the first semester examination, was said to have been embroiled in a war of words with a 500-level student of the same institution's Geology Department whose name was given as Dauda.

The PPRO disclosed that the suspects so far arrested were David Yohanna, a graduate of the College of Education, Azare; Godiya Yakubu, aka, Augustus Kalanu, an artisan; Yahaya Danladi, aka, Y-Man, a graduate of Sodid University, Ghana; and John Simon, a younger brother of the prime suspect.

Mohammed said "They were arrested because they were at the scene of the incident and they are friends of the prime suspect who is still at large. We recovered from them a pistol and a broken bottle as exhibits.

"It is believed that the two groups (the deceased's group and the prime suspect's) are cults."

He added that the suspects took the deceased to a clinic for treatment without reporting the incident to the police adding that the police got wind of the crime at about 7.30pm.
