The families of four Fulani herdsmen who were murdered at Kukuri village, a settlement of Panda Development Area, in Karu Local Government of Nasarawa State, have petitioned the police, calling for an investigation into their murder.

The victims were reportedly murdered by a suspected Fulani vigilance group in August 2016, when an outrageous number of people stormed Kukuri village and stole over 300 cows and 100 sheep of the victims.

Saturday PUNCH learnt that the four victims were first abducted before their corpses were found showing that they were hacked to death.

The victims are Alhaji Sani, Sani Birki, Usman Yellow and Dahiru Sani.

The father of one of the victims, Alhaji Suleiman Rabi, said he got information about the brutal murder of his son with the shock that he and the others were accused to be kidnapers and cow rustlers.
