Two persons have been confirmed dead, while 10 others were injured following the electrocution that occurred in the Agwan Biri area of Minna, Niger State.

It was learnt that the deceased were electrocuted on Saturday when they got in contact with home appliances during a power surge.

The Public Relations Officer of the Niger State Emergency Management Agency, Ibrahim Hussaini, who confirmed the incident, said one of the deceased had been buried.

distribution line in the area.

“We have gone to the area to carry out assessment; and we can also confirm that two persons died.”

The Head, Public Relations and Media, Abuja Electricity Distribution Company, Ahmed Shekarau, said the company had sent a fact-finding team to the community to know what happened.

In a text message, Shekarau added, “We will issue a detailed statement on the unfortunate incident after the report of the fact-finding team.”
