

You're not ready for credible polls, ADC tells Buhari

Reacting to Buhari's claim that he is not afraid of credible elections, the National Chairman of the African Democratic Congress, Chief Okey Nwosu, said the President was not acting as someone who was ready to ensure that the elections would be free and fair.

He said, "We have had a series of elections conducted by the APC-led government and they have not been impressive. In the by-election in Kogi State three people were killed while in Rivers State, it was inconclusive because it was a war zone.

"It is unfortunate that the APC has converted government agencies into an arm of rigging."