

Nasarawa police arrest man for allegedly killing stepmum

Published October 13, 2019

File copy: Handcuffs

The Nasarawa State Police Command has arrested a 23-year-old man, Ahmed Abdullahi, for allegedly stabbing his stepmother to death.

According to the News Agency of Nigeria, the suspect allegedly committed the act on Friday at about 11pm at Ungwan-Yakubu in Agyaragu village, Obi Local Government Area of the state.

NAN quoted the police command's spokesperson, Mr Ramhan Nansel, as saying the suspect went into hiding after committing the crime but was arrested on Saturday morning.

Nansel said the suspect was about to be lynched by residents of the village before the police intervened and took him into custody.

He said the police had launched an investigation to ascertain the motive behind the act.

DOWNLOAD THE PUNCH NEWS APP NOW ON

Receive Alerts on: Whatsapp: +2349090060943, Twitter: @MobilePunch, BBM: C003D3DC0

Share your story with us: SMS: +2349090060943, Whatsapp: +2349090060943, Email:punchonline@punchng.com

NASARAWA POLICE ARREST MAN FOR ALLEGEDLY KILLING STEP MUM

JUST IN

Russia detains four more over opposition protest	3:04 pm
Proprietors decry 25 various taxes, as Niger govt closes 2,000 ‘substandard’ schools	2:59 pm
Nigeria’s financial inclusion rate moves to 63.2 per cent —CBN	2:52 pm
At least 10 killed in gold mine collapse in Burkina Faso	2:49 pm
Teebillz apologises to OAP Do2dtun over alleged death threats from Tacha’s fans	2:45 pm

