A man, whose identity could not be immediately ascertained, was found dead around Olaiya Junction, Osogbo, in the early hours of Tuesday.

The head of the deceased was smashed and he laid face down when the corpse was discovered by the people.

A resident of Fakunle Area, Samson Olajide, in a chat told The PUNCH that the people woke up to discover the corpse in the area.

When contacted, the Police Public Relations for Osun Command, Yemisi Opalola, said, “There was nothing on the man to identify him but the Commissioner of Police, Johnson Kokumo, has directed investigation into the discovery.

“With the fact available, the man may have been killed by either a hit-and-run driver, or he probably fell from a moving vehicle.”
