

Hoodlums attack Ogun filling station, kill two guards

Daud Olatunji 23 February 2022

Kindly share this story: f t w in

Ogun State Police Public Relations Officer, Abimbola Oyeyemi

Hoodlums have invaded a filling station around Delabo Junction, Ilisan-Remo, in the Ikenne Local Government Area of Ogun State, killing two night guards.

Our correspondent gathered that the two guards were attached to the filling station.

The incident happened on Sunday night.

Residents on Monday woke up to discover the victims in a pool of blood.

A resident, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said the assailants took nothing away from the filling station, a situation that raised suspicion that the attack was a case of assassination.

Read Also

- ▶ Toddler crawls out of mother's PoS shop, crushed to death
- ▶ Five abducted kids: Parent accuses police of demanding N200,000 to track suspect
- ▶ Anambra man jailed 21 years for attempted murder

The state Police Public Relations Officer, DSP Abimbola Oyeyemi, said he had yet to be briefed on the incident.

He, however, promised to get back as soon he was briefed on the incident.