

Missing singer found dead, Benue police arrest cultists

John Charles 8 June 2022

Kindly share this story: f t @ in

The remains of a popular singer in Benue State, Terungwa Ikon, aka Ortrees, have been discovered several weeks after he went missing within the North Bank, a suburb of Makurdi, the state capital.

There were reports that the deceased went missing on Wednesday, April 23, 2022.

The singer was reported to have left his elder brother's house for their family house in the North Bank area of Makurdi, before he went missing.

A source said, "He was never seen again until his body was found dumped near a river on Sunday, June 5, 2022."

The state Police Public Relations Officer, Catherine Anene, a Superintendent of Police, confirmed the report.

"It's true," Anene said in a text message.

Read Also

- ▶ Lagos prophet arraigned over missing NOUN undergraduate
- ▶ Ondo retired teacher disappears from home, family seeks help
- ▶ UI student disappears from Lagos construction site, family panics

She added that the body of the singer was dumped in the river, adding that several arrests had been made and those arrested were suspected cultists.