

Herbalist dies during sex with Ekiti pastor's wife

4th January 2023

By Abiodun Nejo

Kindly share this story:

A middle-aged man has slumped and died while allegedly having sex with a woman at a hotel in Ikere Ekiti, headquarters of the Ikere Local Government Area of Ekiti State.

Sources said the incident happened in the hotel room where the man, identified as an herbalist, went to meet the lady on Monday.

A source, who said the woman was the wife of a cleric in one of the churches in the area, expressed surprise at the incident.

She said, “The man died in the hotel room while having sex with the woman. The woman raised the alarm after realising that the man collapsed.

Related News

Herbalist breaks into Osun cemetery, steals human head

Kwara herbalist caught with human parts, remanded

Kwara: Herbalist arraigned for rape of three minors

“The manager of the hotel and some residents rushed to the scene and immediately took the man to a nearby hospital, where he was confirmed dead. I want to believe the woman was spiritually laced with native thunderbolt.”

The state Police Public Relations Officer, Sunday Abutu, who confirmed the incident, said investigation had begun.

Abutu said, “We can confirm the death of the man in one of the hotels at Ikere Ekiti on Monday. His corpse has been retrieved and deposited in a morgue. We are interrogating the woman in question as we embark on investigations to unravel the cause of the man’s death.”