and had gathered useful information from documents the suspect left in the hotel room.

“We have commenced investigation into the incident, as we are able to gather some useful information from documents the allegedly killer left in the room and his information at the reception.

“We will update the press on our investigation as it goes on but for now, we are on it” he added

However, sources close to the deceased said the victim was a divorced mother of four who occasionally visited the hotel which served as a location for commercial sex workers.
