

DSS kills kidnapper of Rarara's mother, recovers N26.5m

GODFREY GEORGE

OPERATIVES of the Department of State Services have killed one of the kidnappers and arrested another suspect who abducted Hajiya Hauwa'u Adamu, mother of popular Kano-based Hausa singer, Dauda Rarara.

Gunmen had reportedly broken into the residence of Rara's mother in Kahutu village in Danja Local Government Area of Kano State and abducted her on Friday, June 28, 2024.

She, however, regained freedom after spending

20 days in captivity.

A highly placed source in the secret service told Channels TV that N26.5 million was also recovered in a covert operation.

The source said the Kano command's tactical team, based on reliable intelligence, busted a gang of five bandits in Makarfi bush where they were sharing the ransom.

"One Hamisu Tukur, is currently in custody with gunshot injuries, while Bature was killed," the source said.

Rarara's mother was abducted weeks ago and released after ransom payment.
