

Slain Sola
Messiah

Cele Prophet Shot Dead Inside Church

•Retired Police Chief Arrested

CYRIACUS IZUEKWE
Olusola Oluwatuyi, a prominent Lagos-based prophet of the Celestial

Church of Christ, Messiah Parish, Meiran, a Lagos suburb, South west, Nigeria, has been shot dead inside his church.

P.M.NEWS gathered from sources at the church this morning that the late prophet, popularly known as Sola Messiah, was allegedly shot dead yesterday by a retired Assistant Commissioner of Police, ACP, Charles Osho, during an argument in the prophet's church.

Our sources said people heard gun shots from inside the church and the retired ACP came out of the church pretending nothing had happened. But his request for where to get nurses or hospital aroused the curiosity of church members who smelt a rat.

Narrating the incident, a member of the church, Mrs. Titilayo Awofisayo said one of

Today In

"I came to this conclusion with the notion that this participation is informed by my desire to serve humanity. To me, it is beyond political party affiliation, it is beyond political

Uranta Raises Alarm Over Influx Of Guns

EROMOSELE EBHOMELE
A member of the Committee set up by the Federal Government to look into the unrest in the Niger Delta region of the country, Tony Uranta, has raised alarm over the rate at which arms are being brought into the country.

ordinary man by delivering on some basic challenges facing the country.
Hear him: "I will not vote for Goodluck Jonathan if he does not deliver during this short period that he has. We should not expect miracles from him, but he needs to deliver just one dividend and I am not talking about free and fair elections because that would be too late to determine why he should run. I am saying if he can deliver lion comprising N11.8 billion as salaries and N90.96 billion as allowances. Is the tax payer getting value for this colossal sum in the current democratic dispensation? Should five per-cent of Nigeria's annual budget be spent on 109 senators and 360 House of Representatives members? "In other words, should 469 Nigerians gulp five

Cele Prophet
Continued From Pg.1
Superior Evangelist Ojelade Oludayo, described incident as terrible and shocking.
He asked the police to investigate the murder thoroughly to bring the perpetrators of the heinous act to book.
When contacted on the incident, the Area 'G' Commander, Mr. Mobolaji Odesanya, an Assistant pal officers earns N78 million every three months or N26 million per month. This tragic state of affairs is clearly unsustainable. Those engaged in this feeding frenzy are endangering our democracy," he lamented.

The constitutional lawyer also faulted the proposed constitutional amendment by the National Assembly, saying that the body was not yet ready to Commissioner of Police, ACP, confirmed it, saying that the suspect has been transferred to the State Criminal Investigation Department (CID), Panti, Lagos.
When the Police Public Relations Officer, (PPRO) of the state police command was contacted on phone, to confirm the incident, he said he was busy in a meeting with the state Commissioner of Police, Mr. Marvel Akpoyibo.

thus paving way in the future for people with criminal records to be elected into public office.
After pointing out the anomalies in the proposed amendment, he stated that "the real work on the amendment or alteration of the constitution is yet to be commenced. From all indications, such work will not be undertaken by the present National Assembly; it will be the task of a future one."
Sagay, however, contended that the greatest authority, which a legislature wielded in a democratic society, is not its legal powers as contained in the constitution, but its moral authority, as the conscience of the nation and protector of the sovereignty of the people.

instead.
Mrs. Awofisayo claimed that when the nurses declined to follow them, Osho attempted to run away but she raised an alarm while Jide Oguntolu ran to the Meiran Police Division to invite police to the scene. And by then the victim had died.
The suspect was consequently arrested and later ship; otherwise, no one will take it seriously," he said.
Also speaking, Oba of Lagos, Rilwan Akiolu warned President Goodluck Jonathan not to declare his intention to contest the 2011 poll yet, saying that he may live to regret it if he rushed into the race.
The oba, known for his frank talk, warned Jonathan that a hasty decision to vie for the presidency next year might ruin his career and that he should beware of the myriads of sycophants who surround him.
He described people around him as greedy and self centred leaders who were only interested in what they could gain and not the welfare of the citizens.

152 Die In Plane Crash