Three people were killed and a Deputy Superintendent of Police (DSP) wounded, when robbers numbering over 30, in police bullet proof jackets attempted to rob a filling station at Ejigbo area of Lagos at the weekend.

One of those killed was a police Constable, Titus Akos attached to the Ejigbo Police Station. The second man a vigilance group member around the area. The third was one of the robbers, who was killed in the gun battle between the robbers and the police.

Daily Sun learnt that the over 30 robbers arrived in a Coaster bus and a black jeep, at the early hours of Saturday, shooting anybody on sight. The first victim was the local security guard, who ran into them.

It was gathered that the dare devil robbers who were attempting to break into the filling station, were confronted by two Armoured Personnel Cars that arrived the scene, followed closely by policemen from Ejigbo Division.

A bloody gun duel began, that saw the death of Akos and a DSP who was wounded.

When the robbers noticed that one of them had been gunned down, they picked him and beat a hasty retreat.
