A 30-year-old man, simply called Chukwudi has been arrested by the police in Ebonyi State for allegedly killing and beheading his 56-year-old father, Michael, in Ekwudinage Obegu village in Ebonyi Local Government Area of the state.

He was alleged to have come from Owerri in Imo State where he resides as a mason, used machete and pestle to sever the head of his father, drank his blood and ate-up his neck.

The Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Mr. Chris Anyanwu, while parading the suspect before journalists in Abakaliki said the action might not be unconnected with ritual killing, noting that the suspect was still undergoing interrogation to ascertain the reason behind his actions.

According to him: "The Ebonyi State Police Command has arrested one Chukwudi, a 30-year-old man for beheading his father, Michael, a 56-year-old man of the same address. The motive behind this gruesome act was not ascertained yet as the suspect is still undergoing interrogation as to why he murdered his father in a cold blood.

"He was arrested on April 1, 2014 and before he was arrested, he was running and waving his machete which he used to cut his father's head and threatened to kill anybody that moved close to him. Meanwhile, he was over powered and arrested but was caught eating the part of the severed head, after he ate-up the entire neck of the severed head.

"So, when you look at the exhibit head, you would see that he doesn't even have the neck even though he cut the head on the base of the head you cannot find the neck from the head because he had eaten it up.

"I think it is not unconnected with ritual killing because it does appear he may have been asked to do such a thing but like I said he is undergoing interrogation if he yields, then we will be able to know clearly and why he did the act.

"However, the machete and the pestle with which he committed the crime were recovered from the scene of the incident and the headless body and severed head were deposited at the mortuary at Federal Teaching Hospital, Abakaliki for autopsy.

"The suspect will be arraigned in court for prosecution."

But the suspect, in an interview said he committed the act but blamed his action on a voice that directed him to go home and kill his father.

"I'm living at Owerri in Imo and I am a mason. A voice came to me, threatening me to go home and kill my father and I immediately rushed home and used machete to kill my father," he said.
