No fewer than eight people were feared dead yesterday in Mubi town in Adamawa State following the explosion of a military Armored Personnel Carrier (APC).

The incident, according to an eyewitness, occurred while the soldiers were conducting a routine patrol with the APC along Ahmadu Bello Way in Mubi. The witness said the tyres of the APC exploded while the patrol was on.

Consequent upon that, the driver of the APC was said to have lost control and ran over a KEKE NAPEP, leading to the death of eight persons, while several other persons were injured, including three soldiers.

The witness also confirmed that the APC was on a high speed when the incident happened, adding that the APC also overran the shop of a welder and a meat vendor, which resulted in a colossal damage in the area.
