FROM GEORGE ONYEJIUWA, OWERRI

Tragedy struck at the weekend as a 70-year-old man allegedly slumped and died after a marathon sex with two secondary girls aged 14 and 16 in a hotel room located at Ogbaku, Mbaitoli Local Council Area of Imo State .

The deceased, identified as Collins Iheanacho, until his death was said to be the village chairman of Umueye village in Irete autonomous community, Owerri West Local Government Area and a retired staff of Chevron Oil company.

A reliable source, told Daily Sun that the deceased, before he met his waterloo, was in the habit of luring teenagers to the hotel.

According to the source, the two teenagers were said to have been regular sex partners with the late randy, old man even after reprimands by their parents.

Daily Sun equally gathered that both girls had honoured the invitation of the man at the weekend at a hotel located at an interior part of Ogbaku.

The two girls, who attend a junior secondary school in the area were said not to be aware of their joint visit to the man until they met at the hotel.

It was further learnt that on arrival at the hotel room, the two girls jumped into bed with their sex partner almost at the same time. However, he had barely finished a sexual round with one of the girls when suddenly he started panting and later gave up the ghost.

However, sensing danger, the sex workers left their lover boy in the hotel room until they were later arrested at their respective homes by the police.
