One killed as fire razes paint firm

• Residents flee as inferno spreads

BY CHRISTOPHER OJI

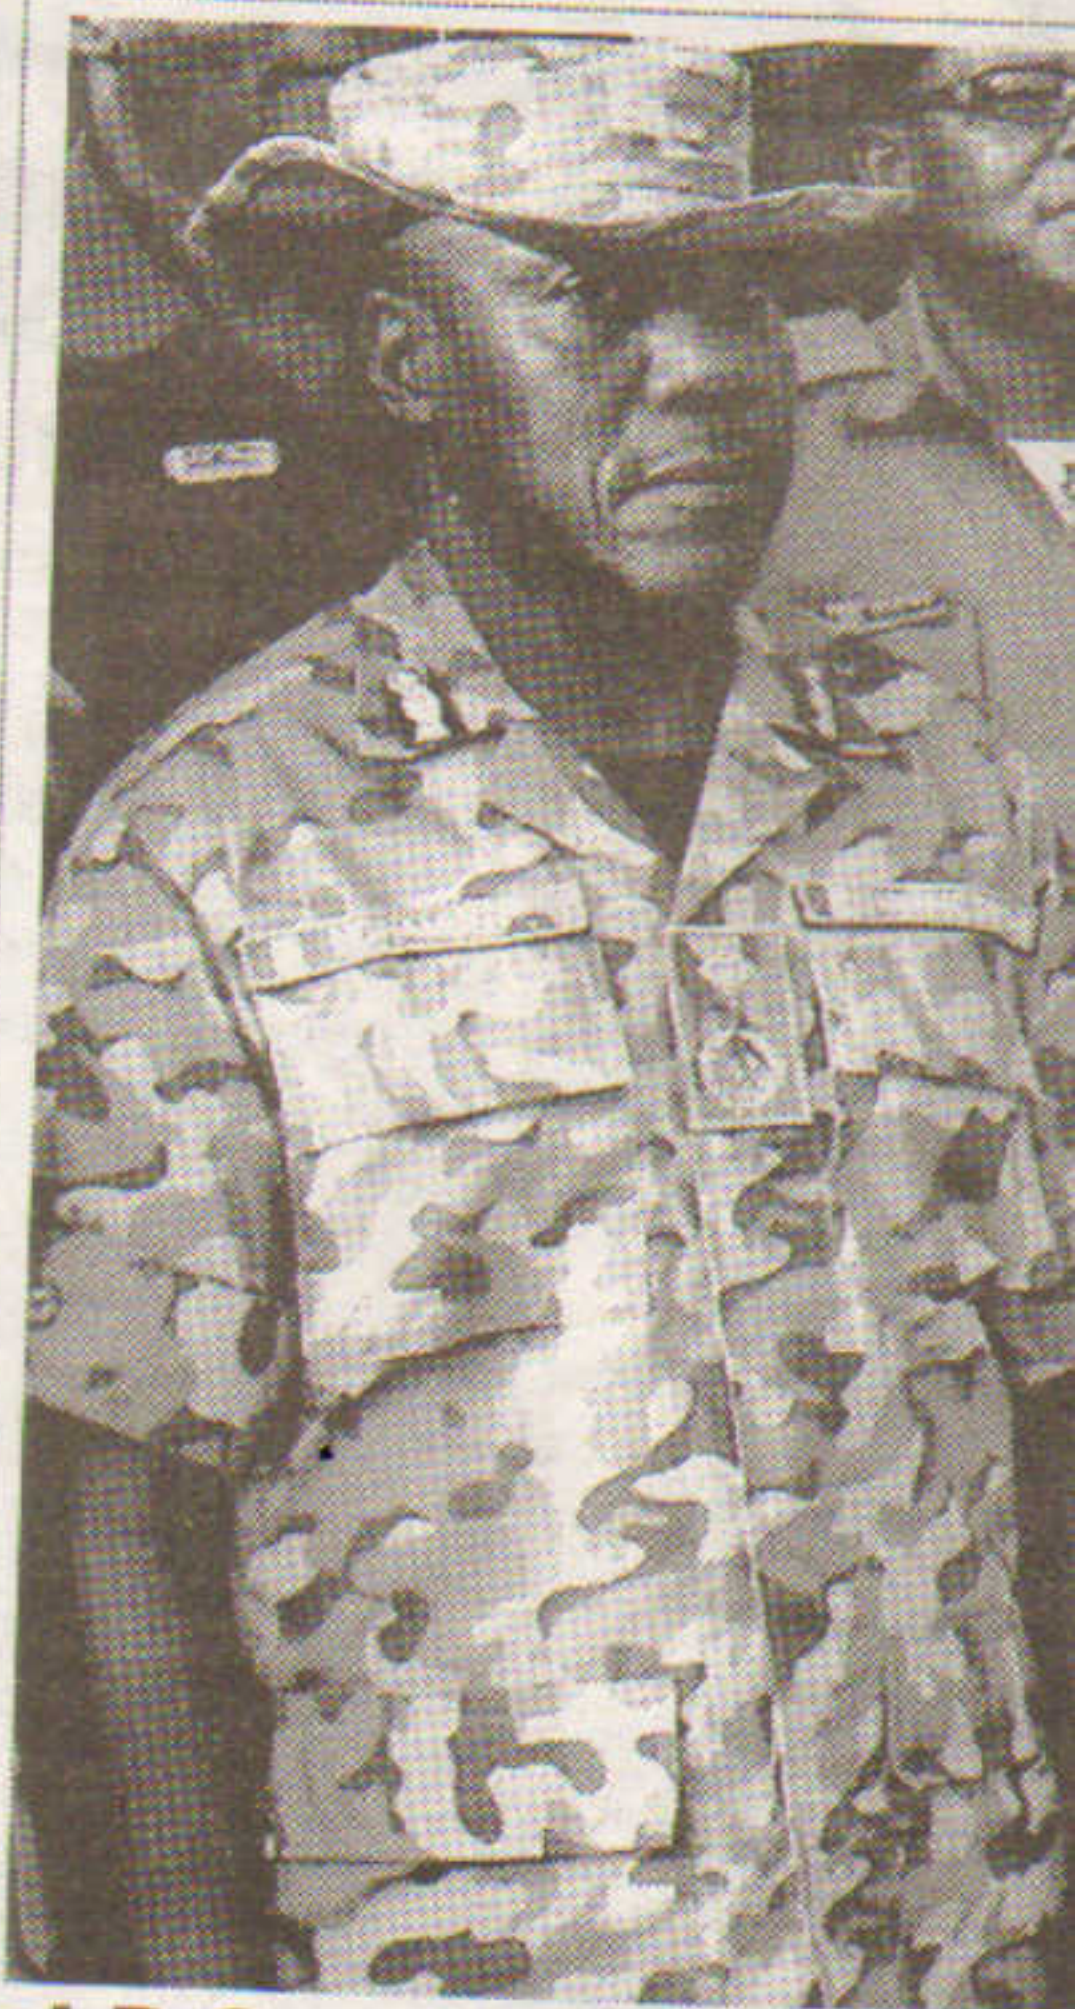

One person was burnt to death yesterday and several others injured as fire razed a paint company in Caso area of Agbado, Lagos.

The fire was still raging and advancing to other companies including banks last night.

Company owners and residents were seen packing out their belongings for fear of the spread. Fire fighters and other agencies were battling to put out the fire.

An eyewitness, John Oboli, said the inferno started around 1pm and that a man who was among the courageous people battling to stop its spread, was trapped and burnt to death while many others escaped with injuries.
