One killed, another injured in Cross River

One person has been killed during accreditation in Mkpani, the home town of a former governor of Cross River State, Chief Clement Ebri. Mkpani is located in Yakurr Local Government Area of the state's central senatorial district. It was learnt that the victim, identified as Roland was shot dead by security personnel while attempting to scale over the fence of Ebri's house where election materials were kept for safe custody. Another victim, whose identity could not be ascertained, was also hit by a Hilux car belonging to a legislator representing...
