

BREAKING

Benue's gov-elect storms China, woos Chinese investors

Search...

Home About Us Paper Ad Rate Online Ad Rates Contact Us

May 12, 2015, 1:42 PM WAT

NATIONAL

POLITICS

BUSINESS

SPORTS

EDITORIAL

ENTERTAINMENT

FEATURES

OPINION

COLUMNS ▾

YOU ARE AT: Home » National » Electrician murders Okada rider in Nnewi

Electrician murders Okada rider in Nnewi

0

BY OUR REPORTER ON MAY 12, 2015

NATIONAL

From DAVID ONWUCHEKWA, Nnewi

A 20-year-old electrician at Akaboedoji, Uruagu Nnewi in Nnewi North Local Government Area of Anambra State, at the weekend, stabbed one Lotanna Izeji, a motorcyclist, and father of two to death during a fight.

The suspect, whose name was given as Onyeka, now at large, was said to have waylaid the 48-year-old deceased, as he was riding home, following a misunderstanding between Izeji and his father. A source stated that during a hot argument that ensued, both men, were engaged in a fight but were separated by passers-by.

They were said to have resumed the fight when they returned home as they lived in the same building.

The source said it was during the second fight that the suspect allegedly grabbed a broken bottle and stabbed Izeji in the neck, cutting his major arteries and he died before he could be taken to a hospital.

Meanwhile, the father of the suspect was said to have been arrested by the police over the incident, while the body of the deceased has been deposited at a morgue.

When contacted, the Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO) in Anambra State, Mr. Uche Ezech (DSP), said he had not been informed of the incident.

TODAY'S EDITION

Today's Sun Girl

KOFI kathy

« Past Sun Girls

SUN DATING NETWORK