Suicide bomber hits military checkpoint in Borno

From TIMOTHY OLANREWAJU, Maiduguri

A suspected Boko Haram female bomber yesterday blew herself up at a military checkpoint in Maiduguri, Borno State capital. Some soldiers were feared dead in the attack.

A security source said a female suicide bomber had detonated explosive devices strapped on her body at a military checkpoint on Baga Road, some metres from the Maimalari Barracks, Headquarters of the 7 Division of the Nigerian Army at about 5.15pm.

A member of the local vigilance group, who preferred anonymity, told Daily Sun that soldiers at the checkpoint had earlier suspected the young woman.

Residents said she was in a car with a driver and the bomb went off as soon as the vehicle was stopped at the checkpoint. But a military source said on the contrary, a lone female bomber targeted the checkpoint, adding that five soldiers were feared dead.
