Vandals kill NSCDC officer, injure another

From Layi Olanrewaju,
Ilorin

AN Officer of Nigeria Security and Civil Defence Corps (NSCDC) in Kwara state was on Wednesday killed during a gun battle with suspected vandals of petroleum pipeline at Osin Laduba village in Asa Local Government Area of the state.

Another NSCDC's officer was also injured during the confrontation.

Daily Sun gathered that the suspected vandals who engaged the security agents in a cross-fire also lost one of their members.

Our correspondent gathered that the men of NSCDC had stormed the area upon a tip off that the pipeline vandals were operating in the area.

A source who pleaded anonymity disclosed that the NSCDC men stormed the area around 1.00am to apprehend the vandals, but they ran into ambush laid by the hoodlums.

A cross-fire ensued between the two groups and one NSCDC man identified as Kadiriya Abdulkadir was killed and one other injured.

The victim has been buried at his family residence, at Sokoto, Kamaldeen street, Oke-Kee Ilorin.

The injured security officer has been taken to an undisclosed hospital in Ilorin where he was said to be recuperating.

It was gathered that 1 suspected vandals have been arrested in connection with the incident.
