

Man kills pregnant wife in Lagos

By Sijibomi Oyedepo-Fatayo

A MAN in Egbeda, a suburb of Lagos, Mr. Lekan Shonde, who was alleged to have killed his wife, an ex-banker and mother of their two children, Ronke, is now on the run.

Lekan was alleged to have beaten the late Ronke, who was said to be pregnant, to death in their home located on Tiemo Crescent, off Awori street, Egbeda, Lagos State, in the early hours of Friday, and locked up the two children, aged six and four in the flat with the dead body of their mother, before escaping from the scene of the alleged homicide. He was also said to have taken away the late wife's phones.

In the wake of the murder of Ronke, Sunday Sun reporter who visited the compound observed that all the occupants had deserted the place, probably to avoid being questioned by the police.

Sunday Sun learnt from a source that the couple had an argument while the children were sleeping, but somehow the al-

FRSC redeploys senior officers

Biafra IPOB: We have no plan of reprisal attack