bardment of the areas, said

egation requested that they folding scenario seemed as if everybody has gathered people to go about their normal business.

6 killed on Ibadan-Lagos road crash
• As another 2 Nigerians killed in S'Africa

From Oluseye Ojo, Ibadan

AT least, six persons lost their lives in a ghastly road accident that occurred at Kilometre 15, quarry area of Ibadan-Lagos Expressway around 5:36pm yesterday.

Also, 21 persons reportedly sustained varying degrees of injury in the auto crash.

The auto crash involved two Mazda commercial buses with registration numbers EKY 59 XR, AME 384 XA; and one Mercedes Benz Sport Utility Vehicle (SUV) with registration number EKY 111 BL.

Eyewitness accounts revealed that the three vehicles were going to Lagos from Ibadan before the accident occurred.

Public Relations Officer of the Federal Road Safety Corps (FRSC), Oyo State command, Mr. Seun Onijala, who confirmed the incident said the accident was as a result of dangerous overtaking.

He said the remains of the dead passengers had been deposited at the Adeoyo Hospital morgue, Ibadan, while the injured victims were taken to Ibadan Central Hospital at Ososami for treatment.

Meanwhile, two Nigerians have been killed in South Africa, barely three days after a Nigerian businessman, 35-year-old Ikejiaku Chinedu, was beaten to death.

The fresh cases of death bring to 17, the total number of Nigerians killed in 2016 alone.

Lamenting over the incessant killings, Ikechukwu Anyene, President of Nigeria Union in South Africa, called for the intervention of the Federal Government.

"The Nigerian community in South Africa is not happy with the killings," he told News Agency of Nigeria (NAN).

"We urge the Federal Government to persuade its South African counterpart to investigate and prosecute incidents of killings of Nigerians in South Africa.

Anyene said the most recent tragic incidents occurred at different areas of Johannesburg.