

Cultists kill 4 in Lagos

By Christopher Oji

SUSPECTED cultists at the weekend killed four youths on Apapa Road, Ebute-Meta and Otumara area of Lagos. The police arrested 30 suspects.

When the armed men stormed the Abule-Nla community on Apapa Road, they opened fire on the residents, killing three persons. Mr. Darlington Ogbu, who lived in Otumara community, was stabbed to death.

Ogbu was drinking beer with his friends when the assailants stormed Otumara community on two motorcycles and stabbed him to death.

But at Apapa Road, the gang said to belong to the Kogbagidi Boys, shot and killed three youths, Samuel Olu, Junior and Taiye while other residents sustained gunshot injuries.

Following the killings, suspected cultists stormed Lagos Mainland the next day to wreak havoc, but were prevented by vigilante men and police.

One of the residents said: "Gunmen came in two Toyota Camry cars at Apapa Road and opened fire on the residents at Abule-Nla. The place they shot the people is the base of the Kogbagidi Boys.
