POLICE in Anambra State have arrested Emeka Areh for allegedly killing his girl-friend (names withheld) after throwing her from a storey building at Oguta Road, Ontisha.

A witness told Daily Sun that Areh allegedly impregnated her and gave the girl some drugs to take for abortion. The girl refused because she had an abortion for the suspect earlier.

"It was when the girl was pregnant again and informed Areh who brought some drugs and demanded that she must take them, the deceased refused, saying she can't abort another baby.

"This led to her beating. They were struggling and in the process, the boy allegedly threw her from the storey building. She died instantly. We invited the police who arrested the boy," the source stated.

The Police Public Relations Officer (PPRO), Nkeiruka Nwode, a Deputy Superintendent, who confirmed the incident, said the boy has been arrested and transferred to the State Criminal Investigation Department (SCID) for further investigation.
