Family cries to Edgal over daughter's death

By Christopher Oji

A 47-year-old lady, Ursular Okere, has been found dead in her apartment at Arinjanlaj, Miran Agbado Ijaiye area of Lagos. Following the discovery, the family has raised the alarm, pointing accusing fingers on a co-tenant simply identified as Austine. The family has, therefore, called on the state Commissioner of Police, Mr. Imohimi Edgal, to fish out the killer and bring him to justice.

Spokesman for the family, who protested to Daily Sun corporate headquarters, Apapa, Mr. Mathew Okere, said: "We are convinced that our sister was murdered. Blood gushing out of her mouth and nose. I was called on January 6 by someone from my sister's compound that Ursular was sick. I phoned her but she did not pick her call. So, I rushed to the place and met her landlord and the landlord broke the news of her sudden and unnatural death.

"The landlord told me that he was going from room to room, greeting tenants until he got to Ursular's room. As she did not open the door or respond to his greetings, he decided to open the door. He told me that the door was not locked from the inside and that when he opened the door, he saw my sister dead on the bed while carried out an attack after the 2015 elections. Even before the elections, blood was gushing out of her mouth and nose. I asked where was the body and the landlord said he was just returning from the morgue where he deposited the corpse.

"I was miffed over the revelation that he had already deposited her in the mortuary. I left for the hospital but I was told that I should come with necessary court documents and photograph of my sister before I would see her body. I got the documents and I was allowed to see my sister. I was shocked with what I saw. Blood was still coming out of her nose and mouth.

"I am saying without fear that my sister was killed and dumped on her bed. First, her landlord said the door was not locked behind and my sister would not have left the door open before she went to the bed. Second she had complained bitterly that her neighbour has been threatening to kill her. They have been living like cat and mouse. They had been at war before things become more terrible.
