A tenant who allegedly stabbed his landlord to death on Tuesday at Umuoba, Irete, in Owerri West Local Government Area of Imo State, got stabs landlord to death, set ablaze by youths more than he bargained for. A source told Daily Sun that the tenant woke up at about 8.30am, and took up a knife. He was said to have chased everybody about with the knife until he got to the point where the landlord's car was parked.

According to the source, "the tenant started destroying the landlord's car with the knife. The landlord, who could not behold his precious car being destroyed, rushed at the tenant to inquire why he was destroying his car. At that instant, the tenant stabbed the landlord in the chest, leaving him sprawling in a pool of his own blood.

He was later confirmed dead at the hospital."

But before the suspect could disappear from the scene, he was mobbed by angry youths of the community who subsequently set him ablaze.

The state police public relations officer, Andrew Enwerem, confirmed the incident to our correspondent but said the police were still investigating the cause of the killings.

"Yes, we heard the report this morning and our men are there to find out exactly what happened and to avert further breach of the law. Investigation is ongoing; we shall get back to you as soon as we get the details," Enwerem said.
