The governor directed that the 24-hour curfew earlier imposed on the two communities be relaxed forthwith.

About seven persons have died in a communal clash between the two communities; scores of people sustained injuries.

The communal clash, which was occasioned by a land dispute between the two neighbouring communities, prompted the state governor to set up a commission of inquiry to probe the circumstances surrounding the age-old feud.

However, Governor Akeredolu announced that the new curfew regime will henceforth be from 6pm-6am until further notice.

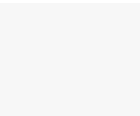

The governor has also directed the release of those arrested and detained by the police in the wake of the crisis.

The directive, according to the state governor, applies only to those whose arrest have no direct link and connection with crimes associated with the violence which claimed lives and property in the area.
