

As if that was not enough, on Wednesday, August 4, a young man of about 28 years old, Ridwan, was murdered at Mile 12 Underbridge around 3pm.

Most of the killings are cult-related. Areas that are under the siege of cultists are Owode Elede, Adekunle, Ajelogo, Fadare, Obanta, Agiliti (Mile 12 axis) and Demuren area in Ketu.

This orgy of violence and killings started in December last year. Cultists are fighting supremacy battles between Eiye and Aiye groups.

Last December, a middle-aged woman, Mrs. Rebecca, was coming from shopping with her grandchild. Her son was driving when they ran into a crime scene being perpetrated by cultists in broad daylight.

She said, "My brother, I will never forget that day, when we ran into the crime scene at Ajelogo, on December 22. I saw a human head on the floor. The cultists/robbers were going to every motorists collecting phones in stalled traffic. They were using Ghana-must-go bags to collect the phones. It was the scariest moment of my life.

Since that December, no week passes without people, mostly traders, motorists and commuters running for their lives.
