HOW SEGUN ONI WAS ASSASSINATED

Before you put a call across to confirm the veracity of this story, let's sound it clear that it is not the same Engineer Segun Oni, the former governor of Ekiti State that was assassinated.

The ousted governor is in perfect condition and steadfast in his mission to rule Ekiti State once again. But, another Segun Oni, a businessman who was shot dead by yet to be or better put, never to be identified gunmen in his own house in Kaduna recently. Segun, information pieced together indicated, was lounging with few friends by his poolside, when he heard noises and made to identify the cause only to be confronted by the daredevils who on sighting him opened fire.
He died instantly.

In his early 50s, Engr. Oni moved back to Kaduna some years ago due to the incessant internecine and religious conflicts in his former Kano base. A devout Christian, he was working with government before venturing into business where he struck gold.
His wife and children were in London when news of his death hit them.
